

GROWING A BLOG PRESENCE

Both of the blogs that I've written and edited, one in order to land a job (which I did!) and one for personal uses, fare better than the total website views for a small company or firm. I understand how to get eyes through content that is provocative, timely, useful, authentic, well-researched and excellently written.

