

INCREASING CONVERSIONS

The best marketer understands that at the end of the day, spurring your audience to purchase, donate or register is the only metric that matters. As an example of my efficacy, I was asked to help a nonprofit increase its attendance at an upcoming event. With a budget of only $75, I was able to increase registrations dramatically in the month leading up to the event.

